

Main table containing stock market data with columns for code, stock name, price, change, volume, and analysis. The table is organized into four vertical sections, each with a header row and multiple rows of data.